The Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC) is a statutorily mandated Brown Act commission that develops and implements a continuum of responses to juvenile crime, sets priorities for the use of funds and develops a comprehensive multi-agency plan for crime prevention and intervention services and for the supervision, treatment, incarceration of juvenile offenders. The JJCC has one vacant seat and is seeking a new member to provide representation from non-profit community based organizations providing youth services.

Meetings are scheduled six times a year (February, April, June, August, October and December) in mid-County. The JJCC By-Laws, prior agendas and meetings minutes are available on the Probation Departments website (<http://www.countyofsb.org/probation>.) Additional requirements for all JJCC members are the completion of a two hour state mandated ethics training (<http://localethics.fppc.ca.gov/login.aspx>) and submission of a Statement of Economic Interests, California Form 700 as required by state regulations.
