This is an important opportunity that will provide a unique voice to guide the local community corrections efforts, and promote collective problem solving with the goals of improving community safety, promoting community capacity for collective action, and healing the harms imposed by crime.

The first position is for a representative of a Community-Based Organization (CBO) with experience in successfully providing rehabilitative services to persons who have been convicted of a criminal offense. The second is for an individual who represents the interest of victims.

Qualified applicants must apply by October 31, 2020 at:
